

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides an electromagnetic pump capable of highly precisely detecting operating positions of a moving member without enlarging the pump. An air-core detecting coil (53) for detecting reciprocating motion of the moving member (10) is fitted around a cylinder so as to be coaxial with electromagnetic coils (50a, 50b).